LEADERS OF Y. M. C. A. ENJOYED CONFERENCE DINNER YESTERDAY

Assembled to Discuss Progress of Building Work and Devise Plans.

Pursuant to the call of the executive committee seventy-five of the workers who solicited funds for the Young Men's Christian Association building met last evening in the hall of the Y. W. C. A., 118 1-2 North Elm street, for the purpose of discussing the work and devising plans whereby the subscriptions could be collected to date in order that the progress on the building might not be held up on account of lack of funds. As a result the men present pledged themselves to assist in the collection of the subscriptions in the same spirit of enthusiasm with which they responded to the call about a year ago.

A light repast was served by a number of the young ladies under the supervision of Mrs. L. M. Clymer, this adding considerably to the enjoyment of the occasion. After the meeting was over a rising vote of thanks was extended to the ladies and others who contributed to the serving of the repast.

J. J. Stone, chairman of the building committee, acted as toastmaster and E. J. Davis offered prayer. Mr. Stone stated that the purpose of the gathering was to touch elbows with each other and to learn what had been done and what was proposed to be done. He introduced R. C. Hood, who spoke briefly on "Our Building."

Mr. Hood first spoke of the successful campaign in Raleigh and the part the "Greensboro Spirit" had played in this campaign. He then spoke of the building.

DISCRIMINATIONS IN TARIFF ARE CLAIMED

French Commission Alleges Unfair Treatment by United States.

By Publishers' Press.

Paris, April 4.—The joint commission on customs of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies decided at a meeting held today to direct the attention of the French Cabinet to alleged discriminations against France in the tariff laws of the United States. Deputy Pinchon said that attention had been called to the matter through study of the proposed reciprocity agreement between Canada and the United States.

"All depends on whether they build air castles or trust companies."

People Are Coming From All Directions To Aviation Meet

The railroads have granted special rates from all points within a radius of fifty miles of this city for the aviation exhibition to be given here Friday by Lincoln Beachy. It is expected that hundreds of people will take advantage of the rates to visit Greensboro and see Beachy fly in his Curtiss biplane. If winds and weather are favorable the exhibition will be a great success, as Beachy is one of the most daring and successful of the country's aviators.

In addition to the large number of people from out of the city expected to be at the fair grounds to see this "high flying" the crowds from the city will be tremendous. It is believed that if the weather is good standing room on advantageous ground will be at a premium.

MOVE MADE TO REVISE THE TARIFF DOWNWARD

Congress Gets Busy in a Hurry---Thousands Thronged Capitol to Witness Convening of Extraordinary Session.

Washington, April 4.—Despite a drizzling rain and lowering clouds which marred the event, immense crowds thronged the capitol today when the extraordinary session of the Sixty-first Congress, called by President Taft because the last session failed to pass his Canadian reciprocity program, met at noon.

Interest in the assembling of the national law makers centered in the fact that the Democrats have secured control of the House, after having been sixteen years in the minority, and this fact overshadowed interest in the Senate, in which the Republicans have also a reduced majority.

Democratic politicians from every section of the country and thousands of visitors descended on the capitol at an early hour this morning and when the gavel fell in both houses it was estimated that the crowds in the capitol numbered more than 10,000 persons.

Thousands were barred out of the galleries, which were packed and jammed with long lines waiting outside, when the big clocks in the House and Senate chambers marked the hour of noon.

After a short prayer by Chaplain Couden, with Clerk Alexander McDowell in the chair of the House, Representative Champ Clark of Missouri, the new Speaker, was promptly elected by a party vote. After reading a brief address, Mr. Clark was sworn in by Representative Talbot of Maryland, and ascended the Speakers' rostrum amid tumultuous applause.

As he took his seat one of the greatest demonstrations in the history of the House occurred and the new Speaker received an ovation which has rarely been tendered to any member of the House.

Following the swearing in ceremony, Mr. Clark took the gavel for the first time, and ordered the election of House officers, who were chosen according to the selections made at last Saturday's Democratic caucus. Following this the new members were sworn in.

After the ceremony of taking the oath, drawing for seats began and occupied several hours.

There were 228 Democrats to be seated, a gain of 54 over the last Congress. The Republicans have 160 members, a loss of 55.

Champ Clark's Speech Accepting the Speakership.

Speaker Clark said:

"Election to the high position of speaker is an exceptional honor for which you have my profoundest gratitude. To be a member of the house, to represent two hundred thousand American citizens in the more numerous branch of the greatest legislative body in the world, is an honor which comparatively few men may attain.

"The pleasure of being elected speaker is much enhanced by the perfect unanimity with which it is conferred by my party fellows and the universal good will with which it is accepted by our collaborators of the minority.

"My Democratic brethren, coupled with the joy of once more seeing a house, a large majority of which is of my own political faith, is a keen sense of our responsibility to our country and our kind.

"After sixteen years of exclusion from power in the house and fourteen years of exclusion from power in every department of government, we are restored to power in the house of representatives and in that alone.

"That we will prove equal to the emergency in which we find ourselves placed through our own efforts and through our own desires there can be no doubt and the way to accomplish this is to fulfill with courage, intelligence and patriotism the promises made before the election in order to win the election.

"By discharging our duty thoroughly and well, subordinating personal desires to principle and personal ambition to an exalted love of country, we will not only receive the endorsement of the people but what is far better—we will deserve their endorsement.

"I am honest, intelligent revision of the tariff downward in order to give every American citizen an equal chance in the race of life and to hamper none unduly by special favor or privilege, to reduce the cost of living by eradicating the enormities and cruelties of the present tariff bill and to raise the necessary revenue to support the government. Bills are already far advanced in preparation looking to the accomplishment of these beneficent ends.

"2.—The passage of a resolution submitting to the states for ratification a constitutional amendment providing for the election of United States senators by popular vote. This resolution has already been introduced and will soon be passed by the house. Let us hope that we will send it to the senate by the unanimous vote of the house.

"3.—Such changes in the rules of the house as are necessary for the thorough and intelligent consideration of measures for the public good, several of which changes are accomplished facts. If other changes are deemed wise, they will be promptly made.

"I congratulate the house and the country, and particularly do I congratulate the members of the committee on ways and means, upon the success of the important and far-reaching experiment of selecting committees through the instrumentality of a committee, an experiment touching which dire predictions were made and concerning the operation of which grave doubts were entertained, even by some honest reformers.

"4.—Economy in the public expense that labor may be lightly burdened. The literal fulfillment of that promise which so nearly affects the comfort and happiness of millions we have begun, and we began at the proper place—by cutting down the running expenses of the house by more than $188,000 per annum. Economy, like charity, should begin at home. That's where we began. We cannot with straight faces and clear conscience reform expenses elsewhere unless we reform them here at the fountain head. The Democratic caucus deserves well of the country for taking this long and important step in the direction of economy all along the line.

"The constitution gives the house the practical control of the purse strings of the country and the house should insist, resolutely and firmly, on exercising that control to the end that the appropriation bills may be reduced to the needs of the government economically and effectively administered. It is our duty to provide every dollar needed for the proper and economical conduct of the government, but it is equally our duty to prevent waste and extravagance in public expenditures, for we should never forget that it is a difficult task for millions of families to live now in decency and comfort. Surely it is the part of wisdom, statesmanship, humanitarianism and patriotism to legislate so as to reduce their burden to the minimum.

The resuscitation of the Holman rule will help along in this matter. No good citizen desires to cripple the government in any legitimate function, but no good citizen desires that the people be loaded down with unnecessary taxes.

"5.—The publication of campaign contributions and disbursements before the election. The bill to accomplish that desired reform has been prepared and introduced. It will be speedily passed by the house. The average citizen, whatever his politics, is absolutely honest. He demands honesty and cleanliness in politics; he believes that too much money is spent in election matters; and he proposes to put an end to it.

As the representatives of the average man it is our duty to carry out his patriotic wishes in that regard to the end that all men desirous of serving the public may have a fair chance in politics and to the end that this mighty republic, the political hope of the world, may not be destroyed by corruption in elections.

"6.—The admission of both Arizona and New Mexico as states. I violate no confidence in stating that so far as the house is concerned they will be speedily admitted and they will be admitted together.

"These are a few of the things which we promised. We are not only going Portrait of Sir Walter to Adorn Municipal Building.

When the municipal and auditorium building that Raleigh is erecting at a cost of $125,000 is completed this summer there will be given to the city to be given a place on its walls a fine painting of Sir Walter Raleigh wearing the famous cloak that he spread before Queen Elizabeth and the rich coat of buttons which contained 1,200 seed pearls and other jewels, the gift of Elizabeth. This painting comes through Chief Justice Walter Clark of the supreme court who has just received it as a personal gift from Walter Frances Burnes, a grandson of Capt. Otway Burnes, as an expression of appreciation for Judge Clark's having delivered addresses for the unveiling of the bronze statue to Capt. Burnes at Burnesville and the monument to him at Beaufort. The painting is a fine copy of the painting by Frederigo Zuechero, in the Royal Art Gallery, London, and has just been received from London by Judge Clark. It was copied by Hans Kueschal, a noted artist.

TELL THE NEWS TO THE TELEGRAM.

On the part of many people there seems to be a misunderstanding of the attitude of the newspaper with reference to gathering and publishing the news. The primary object of newspaper publishing is to secure and disseminate news—all legitimate news—therefore, the newspaper wants news, wants it day by day, takes it whenever it is offered or wherever it can be found; and the public may rest assured that the news gathered or reported is always grateful to persons who supply news items or information leading to the securing of news.

The point at which many persons misunderstand the newspaper's attitude in regard to news gathering and publishing is this: Some people feel that the newspaper is indifferent to the news item they have to offer, does not care for news from that source, or feel a delicacy about talking to a reporter about news which concerns them personally or their families or those with whom they are closely connected. Some few people appear to be averse to talking to reporters about anything and shut up like clams when a reporter approaches. In these days, however, the latter class is very small.

To make The Telegram's position entirely understandable to all, this newspaper desires to say that it is conducted to publish all the news which can be secured and handled; and for the purpose of gathering and printing all the news of the city and county and much of the news of the State, the country at large and the world, The Telegram's facilities for news gathering and for handling the news are being improved at great expense. Under these circumstances it would be an anomaly if The Telegram did not want to secure all the news. It must be evident to the public that this paper wants the news when so much money is being expended for the sole purpose of getting the news and printing it.

The Telegram, however, wants more than this—it wants every reader of the paper and every individual, whether subscriber or not, to assist in gathering the news. In other words, as the caption of this article suggests, Tell the News to The Telegram—and do not hesitate to tell the news, to a reporter or to anyone connected with the paper; send the news by telephone, if you live in the city and have a telephone, or send it by mail or messenger.

All legitimate news will be welcomed by The Telegram. This paper must decide what is news and what is not news, and how the news must be handled—these functions cannot be delegated to the public—but real news will always receive attention in this office or by anyone employed in gathering news for this paper. The Telegram will always be found appreciative of assistance given in news gathering.

One of the quickest and most convenient modes of telling news to The Telegram, in the city or at points having telephone connection with the city, is to use this most modern means of communication. The Telegram office is open every day except Sunday; the phone is 59; some person can be reached at the office any hour of the day or night by telephone.

It will be The Telegram's policy to publish news about everybody. It is not necessary, in order to have your news items appear in this paper, that you should be a subscriber to the paper or the paper's particular friend. News is news, regardless of whether it concerns this paper's subscribers or the subscribers of other papers, whether it relates to this paper's patrons or the patrons of other papers. So do not hesitate on the ground that you are not a patron of The Telegram. News is what we want; and it will be appreciated when given in from any source.

DEMOCRATS MADE GOOD BEGINNING.

If the Democrats in Congress follow up the program outlined in caucus and persist in a course which will give the country economical administration of government, and in addition, relieve the people of some of the burdens of tariff exaction imposed by the Republicans, there is the prospect that the party will soon come into some of its old time power and glory as a national exponent of government in which it is sought to secure the greatest good to the greatest number of the nation's citizens. Nationally, the prospects for the party are the best in many years. If the caucus action has a meaning, (and it probably was full of meaning), it means that there is harmony of purpose in the party and the determination to stand by pre-election pledges and make good as the conservator of the country's highest interests.

On going into power in the House the Democrats resolutely rejected the promptings of pie counter politicians by abolishing useless committees and graft jobs, thus reducing the patronage of the house at a saving of almost $200,000 to the government. That is a step which will appeal to every citizen, and there are millions of them, opposed to the sort of extravagance to which the country has been treated for years. It required courage to map out this line of conduct and cut off this immense amount of Congressional patronage—the sort of courage which gives hope for the future of the party and for the future of the country.

The great consideration, however, is the welfare of the country, and not the future of the party; but it is true that if the Democrats serve the people in the way which a majority of the people have indicated will be acceptable to the country, the future greatness and usefulness of the party will thereby be secured.

The Philadelphia Record denominates the work of the caucus "A Good Beginning," and comments as follows:

"The program agreed upon by the Democratic majority for the work of the extra session reads well in the preface. The undue power of the Speaker has been clipped in the selection of committees. Ninety-eight unnecessary appointive places will be abolished. Six standing committees will be dropped. Extra pay will hereafter only be accorded for extra work. Rules to prevent filibustering delays have been agreed upon. The House Democrats do well in acting upon the theory that economy like charity, should begin at home. It is a pleasure to observe the active and leading part taken by Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania, in this fine preparatory reorganization work.

"Should the Democratic majority firmly adhere to their caucus determination to confine the activities of the extra session to Canadian reciprocity, urgent tariff revision, and a few other matters of lesser urgency in which they may hope to have the help of a majority of the Senate and the sanction of the President, they will have used their power so as to confirm the desire of the people for a return of Democratic rule. If they should fail, through inability to secure Senatorial and Executive assent, the people will know where to place the responsibility of default. To begin well is half the battle."

All of the really enterprising newspapers of the country will now proceed to direct the attention of the public to the fact that April is the last of the year month, for a while.

Raleigh likes the new way of getting together and doing things that are worth while. Everybody in Raleigh, except the chronic kickers, is feeling good, and as an evidence of it the citizens who secured over $75,000 for the Y. M. C. A. building went to work and raised more than $8,500 for the Y. M. C. A. at the A. and M. College. This sum was secured by five hours work. It seems that the Y. M. C. A. campaign is to mark a new era in the history of the State capital, and if this proves to be true it will be a source of pride and of gratification to every progressive citizen of North Carolina.

Some North Carolina newspapers want Governor Kitchin for United States Senator; others want Congressman Kitchin to step up higher; others want Senator Simmons to hold the job; others want ex-Governor Aycock for Senator; and others still want Chief Justice Walter Clark, or Gen. Julian S. Carr, or Hon. E. J. Justice—or what's the use? The situation is just like political situations usually are. There are a number of men perfectly willing to take Senator Simmons' job and there are others, who probably do not want it, whose friends are trying to push them into the contest.

Why the Iceman Was a Nice Man.

When the iceman came out to No. 37 he found a small boy sitting on one of his blocks of ice.

"Ere!" he roared. "What are yer a-settin' on that for? Git off it!" The small boy raised a tear-strained countenance.

"Was yer ever a boy?" he enquired faintly.

"Of course I was!" fumed the iceman. "But—"

"And did you never play hooky?" cut in the youngster.

"Of course I did!" snarled the iceman. "Now, then, you—"

"An' when you got home did yer father never take a stick an'—"

A lump rose slowly in the iceman's throat.

"Sit where ye are, my little man!" he gulped. "I understand!"

"We try," remarked the young married woman, "to see how few quarrels we can have in a year."

WHAT NORTH CAROLINA EDITORS ARE SAYING.

Greensboro and the Raleigh Y. M. C. A. Raleigh stands at the top of the column. But then there is Greensboro. She goes to the top also, and there is room for both.

The most generous act of any city was the donation of $500 to the Raleigh Y. M. C. A. fund by fifty citizens of Greensboro. No such gift was expected and when it was announced for a second the gathering was almost stricken speechless. But only for a second, then there was a shout that, it seemed, could almost have been heard to Greensboro. The refrain in Raleigh today is "Greensboro is all right." Raleigh appreciates her generous and fraternal act and will not forget.

Raleigh appreciates the spirit thus shown by Greensboro. Even though nothing further should come of the movement this city is grateful for Greensboro's interest and believes that its action will firmly cement the friendship existing between the two cities and will help to draw all the cities of the State closer together. Such generous action and such kindly spirit cannot fail for reward. As to the movement itself, becoming modesty may be exercised by Raleigh. At the same time it will not be out of place to say that Raleigh stands ready to reciprocate and do her part in any additional work that may be undertaken.—Raleigh Times.

Snails are not supposed to be clever, but a grower of edible snails in the Canton of Vaud, Switzerland, was baffled by their ingenuity. To keep his crawling livestock within bounds he ran a series of sharp metal points along the top of the fence enclosing their field, thinking that the points would pick the foot of the animal and make him draw back. However, the plan failed, and the farmer soon discovered that the "scargots"—like little wanton boys—had climbed on each other's backs in order to get over the sharp points. The method appeared to show cooperation, and the last snail was left behind after helping over the others—an instance of heroism in human life.

Electricity lately has been pressed into the service of the housewife, the Budapest newspapers announcing the invention of an electrical washing machine. With this machine the use of soap is dispensed with, the electric current being intended to take away any stain or grease. This machine is said to be capable of washing as many as two or three hundred pieces of linen without the assistance of a man or woman being required.

A Reliable Medicine—Not A Narcotic

Mrs. F. Marti, St. Joe., Mich., says: "Our little boy contracted a severe bronchial trouble and as the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in which I have great faith. It cured the cough as well as the choking and gagging spells and he got well in a short time. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has many times saved us much trouble and we are never without it in the house." Howard Gardner.

THE THEATRES; STAGE FOLK

James Grant Thurston Writes of Theatres, Managers and Players.

(By JAMES GRANT THURSTON.)

Special to The Telegram.

New York, April 4.—In addition to the seven new theatres planned or under way here two more new ones have been announced. The millionaire society men who established the "New Theater" have decided to build another. A real estate firm last week leased to Edward F. Rush $27,229 and 231 West Forty-Sixth street, a plot 75x100, for twenty-one years, with renewals, at an aggregate rental of $350,000. The plot is near the Globe Theater, and opposite the new Folies Bergere. On May 1, Mr. Rush will begin the erection of a new theater.

Although superseded by Marcus Loew, William Morris will not cease to be identified with the enterprises which have been associated with his name. While the houses which were under his control will undergo a decided change and the fight which he has been conducting against the forces of organized vaudeville will end, he will retain an interest in the business.

Thus ends one of the fiercest contests ever known in American theatricals—a struggle in which Morris, single handed, went out to compete with the allied forces of practically all the other vaudeville magnates of America.

"One of the most vigorous opponents of child actors is Felix Adler, who places his objection on educational grounds. He says children can act if they want to and in the meantime be educated. Everybody knows that the ability to read and write is a condition precedent to the actor's profession. So children are certain to be taught to read and write and after that it lies within their own power to acquire as much more education as they want.

There is no school for the actor so good as the stage. Macklyn, Master Betty, Siddons, the Kembells, Salvini, Ristori, Helen Faucit, Edwin Forrest, Joe Jefferson, Maggie Mitchell, Lotta and Ellen Terry are some of the noted actors of the stage who began as children. Henry Irving did not, but Ellen Terry has always told in her reminiscences how deeply he regretted always the loss of that discipline which he would have had as a child actor. Miss Terry also said that many of his defects sprang from the fact that he had not been trained when he was plastic in body and receptive in mind to the secrets of his art.

In Massachusetts, Illinois and Louisiana, the factory laws forbid the training of children for stage performances. The reason for this is that children are made to "work" at night. Augustus Thomas and Francis Wilson, notably, have shown that the health of stage children is hedged with every safeguard; their salaries, compared with the wages of factory children, are princely, and the few minutes required in the evening for their speaking parts are most pleasurable to them and to their audiences. Mr. Wilson has presented lists of hundreds of actors—practically all the famous actors of history and of the present time—whose training for the stage commenced before the so-called awkward age in children, and who grew up in the atmosphere of the stage.

Clara Morris, the actress, celebrated her sixty-first birthday at her Riverdale home, and was the recipient of many congratulatory telegrams and notes, one of which contained an offer from a publisher of $2,000 for an article on the life of St. Paul. The actress' health has improved, also has her eyesight.

The financial difficulties which threatened her home have been satisfactorily arranged and she now spends most of her time dictating stories of fiction.

THE MUNICIPAL WAR IN NEW YORK CITY GOES AHEAD MERRILY

By Publishers' Press.

New York, April 3.—The warring factions in the city government continued today to make charges and counter charges. The grand jury is probing the crime wave and making an investigation of the charges of Magistrate Corrigan against the police department. While thus engaged this afternoon and investigating the police records, Police Commissioner Croysey went before the jury and disclosed conditions, it is said, which could not have been discovered from any of the chronicles of police doings.

Charges made by Mayor Gaynor and Comptroller Pendergrast were among the features of the day's developments. The comptroller denounced a statement made by the mayor as untrue, saying that the mayor authorized certain changes in office which the mayor says Pendergrast is responsible for.

Midnight In The Ozarks

and yet sleepless Hiram Scranton, of Clay City, Ill., coughed and coughed. He was in the mountains on the advice of five doctors, who said he had consumption, but found no help in the climate, and started home. Hearing of Dr. King's New Discovery, he began to use it. "I believe it saved my life," he writes "for it made a new man of me, so that I can now do good work again." Sumner Township S. S. Convention

The Sumner township Sunday school convention, held at Rehoboth church last Sunday afternoon was a meeting of interest to a good sized audience in attendance. Township Chairman A. O. Newman presided. The music under the direction of Prof. F. S. Fentress was fine, and there were a number of excellent papers on Sunday school work, read by several young ladies of the township. Rev. Shuford Peeler, secretary of the Guilford County Sunday School Association, was present and made a stirring talk on general Sunday school lines and the work in this county in particular. J. T. Fain, editor of The Telegram, was introduced to the convention as a visitor interested in the cause, and responded with a talk on the organized Sunday school work.

The next quarterly convention of Sumner township will be held at Groome's on the first Sunday in July.

"We try," said the old married woman "to see how few cooks we can have in a year."

"That young fellow is too much of a dreamer. Dreamers never amount to anything."

Negresses at Cornell.

Ithaca, N. Y., April 4.—Cornell's colored girl students, who applied for admission to the Sage College dormitory, say they were actuated by a desire for more convenient rooms without any thought of social equality.

Hansbrough a Novelist.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 4.—Ex-Senator Hansbrough, of North Dakota, has written a political novel called "The Second Amendment." It fairly melts with romantic love-making.

IT SAVES YOU MONEY

Dr. Howard's Dyspepsia Specific; Regular Price 50c. Howard Gardner's Price 25c.

The special half price sale of Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia by Howard Gardner means the saving of a few dollars on every family's yearly bill for medicines.

Mr. Gardner has so much faith in the superior merit of this medicine that he says: "If Dr. Howard's specific does not cure you, come back to his store and he will return your money."

This remedy is not an ordinary medicine. It is the favorite formula of a well known physician, and has the endorsement of hundreds of physicians of eminence in their profession, who prescribe it in all cases of constipation, dyspepsia or liver trouble, knowing from experience that it will make a complete and lasting cure.

Woman's World

Miss Elsie De Wolfe—Latest
Success In House Decoration.

MISS ELSIE DE WOLFE.

The woman who thinks it is necessary to have a large house to display
one's taste and ingenuity in decoration
should see a small New York home which has been furnished according to Miss Elsie De Wolfe's ideas. There are a number of good points in the salon
and the sleeping rooms for the woman who is going to be her own interior
decorator next spring.

The pictures in the salon are French,
in gilt frames, and the long wire to the molding is covered with plaited ribbon in a dull old rose shade. This is a novel feature which will be copied
by the majority of women who see it.
Miles of wire stretching over a tinted wall have always been an obstacle to beauty, and this ingenious method of solving the problem will be received with gratitude. The appliques in this room are French in design, holding branches of lights above a ram's head.

The sleeping rooms have many novelties in the way of decoration. Each furnishes half a dozen ideas to the woman who is on the lookout for something new and something better to put in her own room. For instance, in one room there is a chintz bed. This gay colored cotton is let into a framework of wood. The canopy, which begins in the middle, is divided into four parts,
each part drawn to a corner of the bed
and caught with a ring of the material edged with crimson fringe. The lower framework of the bed where it comes against the mattress is padded with cotton and covered with crimson silk,
as English fenders are. This is a color note for the woman who has always objected to the sharp line of wood against the drapery of the bed. The outer coverlet is of crimson silk to match this padded wood. The dressing room, which opens into this sleeping room, gives the appearance of a house of glass. Its walls are mirrored, the dressing table is covered with glass, and a triple mirror is also of glass, edged with a tiny band of ornate gilt.

Minor details that catch the eye in the whole house are the French hardware locks put on the doors and the introduction of a mirror wherever it is possible to insert a piece of glass in the wall. Every good decorator knows that reflection gives size, and in this eighteen foot house this method has been worked so successfully one often has the feeling of looking down a vista
when one is inclosed by four walls.

In every room there is an available
and convenient table which Miss De Wolfe calls a kidney table and which she has invented. This oddly shaped piece of furniture is of dull wood and is placed near the fireplace or sofa or a bookshelf.

For Cleaning Lingerie Collars.
Those who wear lingerie waists with lace collars will find it useful to know
a safe and easy way to clean the necks, which are apt to become soiled when
the waists are comparatively clean.
Especially is this the case in traveling,
and many a woman has been obliged to send a waist to the laundry simply because of a black line around the collar from a dusty coat.

In such cases it comes as a relief to learn that a small nailbrush and the ordinary bathroom soap, if properly applied, will cleanse a collar perfectly. Take the waist and place the collar carefully on the edge of the bathroom washbowl. Be sure only the collar touches the marble. Then wet the nailbrush with warm soapuds and brush it rapidly over the soiled places.

Do not rinse the collar in the bowl,
but allow it to remain on the edge of the bowl, and with the nailbrush frequently dipped in fresh water keep brushing the lace until the soap is entirely out of it. Next place the waist carefully over the back of a chair upon which a turkish towel has been arranged to hold the wet collar in shape just as it was removed from the basin edge. If this method is taken at night, the next morning will find the collar clean and shapely for another day's wear.

Nothing is more effective for cleansing Irish lace collars than this method of brushing them clean with the small wet brush and placing them on the bath towel to dry.

Trained Horses.
It would be quite natural to think
when we see the wonderful things that trained horses are made to do in the circus of today that all this belongs to modern times and that such things were never done or even thought of among the ancients. But the truth is that all the wonderful feats performed by trained horses now are merely repetitions of what was done several hundred years ago.

Horses were then trained to dance
on their hind legs and to fight mock battles, striking at their enemies with their fore feet, and to perform many other so called "tricks." One of the most wonderful feats ever learned by a horse was in the olden time. A large three sided braided rope was stretched several feet from the ground, and on this the horse walked, preserving its balance perfectly.

Here it.

Butte Elects a Socialist Mayor.

Butte, Mont., April 4.—Butte today is the second city in the United States to elect a Socialist mayor. Besides that, at the election yesterday the voters elected Socialist city clerk, police judge and five out of nine aldermen.

The new mayor is the Rev. L. J. Duncan, a Unitarian minister, and he carried every ward save one. He won from J. J. Quinn, a Democrat, by a plurality of 1,843, the largest ever given in a mayoralty election.

In Helena, a Socialist alderman was elected, and in the Butte suburb of Walkersville two Socialist councilmen were elected.

The Democrats two years ago elected every city officer here.

Argument In Coca Cola Case. Chattanooga, Tenn., April 4.—General J. B. Cox, in opening the argument for the government in the coca-cola case today, declared that while it only involved forty barrels and twenty kegs of coca-cola valued at less than $3,000, it involved a principle, the health of a people.

He declared that the evidence showed coca-cola to contain caffeine, a poison according to medical authorities, and to use was deleterious to health.

"Let Georgia keep her coca-cola within her borders. She can't ship it into Tennessee," he said.

Talk of Peace is Futile Until Diaz Gives up Office

By Publishers' Press.

Madero's Camp, near Chihuahua, April 4.—The declaration that all talk of peace is futile so long as Diaz refuses to resign and that the recent cabinet changes at the Mexican capitol served only to convince the insurgents of their ultimate success was made by Francisco I. Madero, Jr., provisional president, today. Madero declared he was confident of "The final triumph of arms in the overthrow of Diaz." Regarding the peace talk attributed to his father and Gustavo, his brother, who were reported to have initiated peace plans with Minister of Finance Limator in New York, Madero intimated strongly that they had no authority to act for him. The Madero camp was reached after sixty miles of travel in a carriage. It is located on a plantation of a million acres. Twelve hundred soldiers are in camp.

Uncle Sam May Intervene.

By Publishers' Press.

Washington, April 4.—An ultimatum to Mexico, involving American intervention, if peace is not restored within a reasonable period is now under serious consideration at the White House. The protection of American and foreign interests will be the grounds upon which this drastic step will be based.

NOTED WOMAN LAWYER DEFENDANT IN DAMAGE SUIT.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 4.—Mrs. Belva A. Lockwood, the woman suffragist and lawyer, is defendant in a case being tried at Dalton, Ga. The case is a suit for damages against Mrs. Lockwood for alleged malicious abuse of a legal process. The case grows out of the payment of a sum of money to James Brackett, under the settlement of the claims of the Eastern Cherokee Indians. Mrs. Lockwood claimed a commission, but Brackett refused to pay and she caused his arrest on the charge of larceny after trust. He was acquitted and instituted the suit for $10,000 damages. Mrs. Lockwood, though 81 years of age, is still active and may take part in the argument of the case.

Mississippi Firm on Trial For Forging

Bills of Lading.

Aberdeen, Miss., April 4.—Charged with having circulated through the mails forged bills of lading, members of the defunct firm of Steele, Miller & Co., of Corinth, Miss., were brought to trial before Judge H. C. Niles in the United States district court here today. The government charges that J. H. Miller, L. C. Steele, C. H. G. Linde and J. H. McKnight, who composed the firm, issued forged bills of lading, aggregating a large sum.

Many prominent bankers and railroad officials are here to testify in the trial, which, it is believed, will be protracted.

Old-Fashioned Cooking

By HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD.

Much real comfort might be had at very small expense by considering, and possibly adopting, a good many valuable dishes which are either in bad repute or for some good reason are regarded as coarse articles of food, or are forgotten and only to be seen in those old families that have preserved their traditions.

We should be able to increase our variety somewhat if we occasionally remembered them, or looked about us and made inquiries in the old mansions or hovels concerning them.

Who cannot call to mind some one of those old dwellings where the mistress does as her grandmother did before her, with her potpourri of rose leaves in the old china jug, in the one case in the parlor, and in the other in the kitchen, with crook-necks over the high shelf, and long strings of savory onions hanging about them, only one at a time of the choice things to be used for abiding flavor to some dish, and all of them, if one looked with the same eye to grace and tint, an ornament of beauty past buying.

In among them will be the punches of herbs—the pot-herbs of fennel and parsley, the sweet herbs that distill faint perfume on the air with every waft of the steam beneath them, thyme, sage, mint, marjoram, and sweet basil, and all of them, though now but kitchen herbs, once parts of ancient song and verse.

There, also, will be dried bulbs of the purple orchis which in heat and thunder keep the milk from souring. On the fire, perhaps, a curious preparation will be simmering—greens, but tender and needing no vinegar or dressing, as they are the common sorrel leaves stewed in no water, but in their own juice, and seasoned to the fancy; or perhaps a pot of dhal will be bubbling—split peas with curry, bits of onion and butter, and “three cloves chopped fine.”

On this same fire it is not unlikely that a dish of sour kraut may be in preparation, sweet and odorless, and wondering at the bad name it has in the world, made with such care as to renew its brine frequently, and its linen cover being so often rinsed that it has none

but an appetizing smell; if it is in the summer, too, tops will be boiling in a little flat pan as a sort of substitute for asparagus, for however well-to-do in the world now the family may be, the traditions of a time when inventive genius had to apply itself to turn everything to account are still preserved with them.

If you look in the store-room of any such house you will find an odd array of jars; there will be a pot of coarse “carragreen moss,” picked up on some afternoon excursion to the sea-beach, and cleansed and dried for blanching; there will be strange pickles, samphire whose little pulpy red reeds have been covered with hot vinegar and spices, gathered on the marshes.

Here, too, are bottles of nasturtium seeds that answer all the purposes of foreign capers, and cost nothing. There are pots of the Jerusalem artichokes, too, so called by corrupting its own pretty name of Girasole, because the plant producing it turns always toward the sun; and here are jars of East India sauces and pickles all made at home, but with such cunning disguise and deceit of raw ginger, red pepper, garlic, turmeric and mustard that only the trained palate knows the difference.

Preserves and sweetmeats, also, of unaccustomed sorts will appear here—a rhubarb marmalade, one of the red Malta orange, the blood orange that grows from a graft of orange on pomegranate, another of green orange peel that brings the whole tropics about the taster, mulberry syrup for sore throat. Normanby biffen, or apples shriveled in the oven, to be stewed in the winter days; jars of candied lemon peel, and of a foreign flavored jam made of the red lips of the wild rose bushes, stewed and strained and sweetened and strengthened with a dash of spirit, something, perhaps, after the pattern of the old rose conserve of the Venetians; flasks of noyau made of honey and peach kernels; and another home-made cordial—a maraschino-like thing of beech leaves, steeped in syrup, gin and sugar—in fact, all manner of curious and strange little competes and rarities that one would never see anywhere else under the sun, and memory of many of which has quite died from among us.

There will be people here from all parts of the state and elaborate preparations are being made to give them a most cordial welcome. The Telegram's Improvement Noted

The announcement by the management of The Greensboro Telegram of the contemplated plans for improving the paper has proven a very interesting one for the many readers of "Greensboro's Growing Daily."

The notice of the proposed increase of the subscription price after May first has created favorable comment, for it is realized that with the contemplated improvements there should come an increase in the price. A lively interest is being manifested in the special offer of $3.00 for subscription for the Daily Telegram until May 1, 1912. This offer holds good until May 1, 1911. At any time before that date old or new subscribers may upon payment of the amount due on their subscription, if they are old subscribers, and $3.00 in addition have The Telegram sent to them at any address, either by mail or carrier, without further cost until May 1, 1912. New subscribers simply have to pay $3.00 to get the paper until May 1, 1912. VIRGINIA-CAROLINA

GAMES GREAT EVENT AMONG COLLEGE MEN

Special to The Telegram.

Chapel Hill, N. C., April 4.—The climax of the University of North Carolina baseball season comes next Saturday and Monday, April 8 and 10, when the varsity goes up against Virginia in Greensboro and Charlotte. These two games are always the biggest baseball events of the college season in North Carolina. The prospects are that the crowds that they will draw to these two cities will be larger than ever this year. The two teams are well up to the standards of the Orange and Black in years. Carolina has a plucky bunch of young players, who can hit most of them and who will fight for a game, all of them. Baseball lovers always like a snappy bunch and they will go to see the games for this reason. Besides this the two towns of Charlotte and Greensboro in keeping with the spirit that prevails between them will each strive to out do the other in the matter of attendance and entertainment of the visitors. It remains to see which will come out on top in this contest.

When the spring baseball practices for the Carolina team began about the most promising thing about the prospects was the lack of the "plethora of material" to which the Times-Dispatch of Richmond attributed in part the disastrous outcome of the football team last fall. Captain Hackney in center field was the only varsity man left from last year's team. The new men were largely an unknown quantity. A lot of Carolina students had lost confidence in the ability of the Carolina team of today to win in any close contest and the knickers brigade had a membership nearly as large as the two literary societies.

The team gradually shaped itself out of the squad and the fans had an opportunity to size up things. Hackney was the strength of the outfield; Witherington, a last year's scrub was the catcher; the pitchers were class team men or scrubs; and the four infield men were good.

And now the team has been tested. They won from Oak Ridge by hitting at the right time and because Lee pitched a good game, and because he had good support—three things that win every game. Then came Davidson with its semipro bunch. Davidson wanted the game as bad as Carolina wants two of the Virginia games. Davidson came to Charlotte accompanied by the whole student body and heralded by a cartoon in a Charlotte paper which showed the little Carolina man in rapid retreat before the giant Davidson man, Cashion. But it was foreordained that Carolina, by cool fielding in critical moments and close fighting all the time, should pull Davidson colors a trifle lower than they had floated since the football contest in Charlotte last October. Then came victory last Tuesday in the prettiest baseball contest seen in Chapel Hill in over five years. Each team fielded a perfect game. Each team saved itself from being scored on by pulling off a double play when anything else would have meant a tally. The game was won by Hasty scoring from second base when his teammate hit a double play.

The team is not a bunch of stars. They have got nine men who will fight to stave off a licking. Most of them are pretty skillful players and Clancy from the bench thoroughly dominates every one of the players from the pitcher to the men behind the bat. He keeps them fighting and keeps their confidence up.

It is probable that as large a crowd of students as have gone to Greensboro and Charlotte for a long time will go up on the excursion to see the two fights with Virginia, the two days that will decide the success or failure of the season so far as the student body is concerned.

INTERESTING STORIES FROM THE TELEGRAM'S NEW YORK SPECIAL

By ROBERT LEE CARTER.
Special to The Telegram.

New York, April 4.—Chicago now has the laugh on New York. The Woman's political League which intends next week to impress the importance of granting suffrage for women in the City of New York by means of a parade showing the progress of woman during the past couple of centuries had to send to Philadelphia for its Cinderella. One of the figures in the parade is to be a belle of the reign of good Queen Anne, borne in a sedan chair. In order to carry out the verisimilitude it was necessary to have a fragile, little lady wearing a shoe not bigger than size 11-2. In all the ranks of the New York suffragettes not one could be found who could wear the slipper.

The New York girl especially when she is interested in suffrage is a different proposition from the old time ideal of girlhood. There is little of the clinging vine about her. All the same she is a mighty attractive young person
and will stand comparison with her sisters anywhere in the world.

The Boy Scout movement seems to have caught on about as well in this country as it has in England and thousands of boys have become scouts. It is a good thing especially for the city boy.
Gen. Baden-Powell, who is responsible for the movement has just formulated a plan which may have mighty consequences. Under it the Boy Scouts of America will send postal cards or letters to fellow Scouts in England, Germany, France, India, Australia, and various other countries, and the correspondence will be encouraged among the boys of different nations.

The idea is to have this exchange of correspondence on days that are of national importance.

For instance, Gen. Baden-Powell is arranging correspondence between the boys of England and of other countries, especially for St. George's day, April 23, for St. George is the patron saint of the Boy Scouts of England. He is anxious that the boys of England should get letters from the youngsters of other nations on that day, and that they in turn should answer them.

The American idea is to have the boys
of other countries write to the Boy Scouts of America on July 4.

This movement may do much to advance the cause of universal peace.

Senator Timothy D. Sullivan has an original way of expressing his opinion of a man who has characteristics which are not normal. The other night he was telling some friends about one person who had crossed his path. Said the Senator:

"He is so tight that he can carry an armful of eels up a ladder and not drop one. He wouldn't give five cents for a scuttle of lemonade on a desert."

A right interesting young Southerner
who is beginning to attract attention in New York is Edgar Chambliss, an Alabamian by birth, but a North Geo-rgan by long residence. Mr. Chambliss is a man with an idea. He is convinced that pretty much all the ills man is heir to are due to the congestion of the people in the cities and he has evolved
a plan to cure this. His idea is to apply the skyscraper principle to the building of what he calls Roadtown, with this difference that the skyscraper, instead of being built up in the air is built horizontally, making a series of houses or flats extending straight across country indefinitely, which would give the inhabitants every thing best both in city and country life with conveniences and luxuries which even the very rich cannot have under existing conditions and all within the financial reach of practically everybody. He has worked his scheme out to the minutest detail and has interested some pretty big people.
He told one the other day that he soon expects to get to work on the first section of Roadtown and he is sure when it is completed it will start a revolution.

The Produce Exchange, which has the largest trading floor in the world, has turned over the great room for the entertainment of a gathering of Southerners who are coming to New York in

"It isn't any wonder to me that not even a revolution can live out in that country they call Chihuahua," said Maze Oliver, of this city, who has spent several months in El Paso.

"For the life of me, I can't see why bridlewise Americans, who are supposed to know a thing or two, should have selected Juarez as a place for building a race track. Why, that country isn't anything but a vast stretch of barren desert land. Not even anger can grow
there, let alone ambition and revolution."

"In all the state of Chihuahua, at least that part over which I traveled,
there isn't the sign of a tree or a blade
of grass. It's a dirty, dusty, miserable stretch of waste that makes one long to get away. I was forced to spend several months in El Paso, which is not such a bad place, except in the matter of 'eats,' and my diversion was riding over into Mexico. There wasn't anything else to get up one's excitement,
and so my companion on these pilgrimages, used to smuggle in Panama hats and other things on which ordinarily we should have had to pay duty. There wasn't any reason for it, except the mere adventure."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness,
and that is by constitutional remedies.
Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh)

to fulfill them, we have already begun the great task. What we have done is only an earnest part of what we will do. We this day report progress to the American people. The rest will follow.

"No man is fit to be a law-giver for a great people who yields to the demands and solicitations of the few having access to his ear but is forgetful of that vast multitude who may never hear his voice or look into his face."

"I suggest to my fellow members on both sides of the Big Aisle—which is the line of demarcation between us as political partisans, but not as American citizens or American representatives—that he serves his party best who serves his country best."

Move to Revise the Tariff Downward. By Publishers' Press.

Washington, April 4.—The tariff question came up in the House this afternoon when Congressman Charles M. Bartlett of Georgia introduced a bill providing that importations of meats be allowed free of duty. This is the first movement made in the effort to revise tariff schedules downward in the interest of the consumers.

Congressman Hull, Democrat, of Tennessee, introduced a bill this afternoon providing that all persons receiving annual salaries of five thousand dollars or more be required to pay a yearly income tax amounting to one per cent.

County Physician A. F. Fortune appeared before the commissioners yesterday morning with a petition, signed by a number of people living in the community affected, asking that the authorities take steps to prevent the city from using the farm of Thos. An investigation was ordered and steps will be taken to remedy the trouble.

Barnwell, Kan., April 4.—Mrs. Ella Wilson is now mayor of this town. At the city election yesterday she and O. M. Akers, were tied for the office. Therefore the judges of the election declared her elected.

AMERICAN WAS SHOT FROM AMBUSH IN MEXICO YESTERDAY

New Jersey Promoter Mortally Wounded--- State Department Will Investigate.

By Publishers' Press.

Washington, April 4.—The State Department will prosecute a thorough investigation of the assassination of George Crichtfield, the New Jersey man, who was shot from ambush near Tuxpan, Mexico, today. He is believed to be mortally wounded and in a most critical condition.

When the report of the shooting of Crichtfield was received by the department from Consul Miller at Tampico, further details were asked for. It is believed that complications will arise over the tragedy.

Crichtfield was a millionaire citizen of New Jersey and prominent as a Republican politician in Jersey City. He had large interests in Mexico and represented other large interests, being associated with the capitalists engaged in promoting the Uvalde Asphalt Company and in other Mexican operations. He was unsuccessful as a candidate for Congress in 1908.

High Point Cases in Superior Court

Practically all of yesterday in Superior court was taken up with the cases of Glenn McFarland and Velmore Cheek, both of High Point. The case of State vs. C. E. Hockett, which was set for yesterday morning, was nolle prossed with leave. The charge was embezzlement.

The case of Glenn McFarland, the charge being disturbing public worship, was taken up Monday afternoon. After the argument was concluded yesterday morning, Judge Daniels instructed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty as the evidence would not support the charge. It seems that the negro had gone to church wearing a peculiar scarf pin with electrical connections and the minister happening to look in his direction was amazed to see a skull and crossbone glaring at him from the negro's crimson tie.

The case against Velmore Cheek, the charge being embezzling church funds to the amount of $4.50, was taken up during the morning and it will go to the jury this morning.

ing now in course of erection. He regretted, he said, that the committee had been forced to contract for the plans and building outside of Greensboro, but no one ought to feel bitter because of this for Greensboro architects and contractors are constantly securing contracts in other cities.

Judge N. L. Eure spoke on "Y. M. C. A. Policies." He declared that while the Greensboro people had done a wonderful thing in determining to erect the Y. M. C. A. building they had still a more wonderful work before them, that they must put their time, thought and efforts into the work if the association was to be a success in the city; that the social, business and religious life of the city should revolve around this institution. "We want to do many things," said Judge Eure, "but above all others we want to conserve the lives of our young men." He spoke of the many places where the young men now are, compelled to go for divers amusements, declaring that the pool room was one of the greatest evils in the city. He recited many instances where lives have been wrecked and the young men and boys brought into his court for violations of the law. "We have got to go out and draw the boys and young men from these places and put them in the Y. M. C. A. and give them an opportunity to reclaim themselves and we have got to do something to prevent others from going astray," he said. Shows, barring indecent ones, were upheld by the speaker, who said ministers should not run down the shows to such an extent and not touch on other greater evils of the city. He commented on the fact that during his office as judge not a single educated negro had been brought before him for minor violations of the law and said that something should be done to elevate the negro; that if a community was to be brought to its highest elevation from a moral standpoint that the entire community must be brought up, that one side would pull down the other.

A. W. McAlister spoke on "Our Larger Part." He spoke of the fact that the future work is more important than the past; that time and thought must be given to the efforts put forth to elevate the citizenship of the city. He closed by referring to the all important fact that in its last analysis the home is the place in which the citizenship is molded and in order to have a first class citizenship the home life must be elevating.

J. Norman Wills told a joke as a preliminary to his talk that caught the attention of all, and then said he was going to select a text as one had not been given him. He referred to the first verse of the sixteenth chapter of

First Corinthians and said these words were found "Concerning the Collection." Mr. Wills spoke of the fact that the subscriptions to the building fund were not coming in as rapidly as they might and he hoped that every one would read this scriptural quotation and act accordingly.

Secretary L. H. Martin was asked to report regarding the collections to date. He said that $18,640.65 had been paid in to date, of which $18,383.86 had been expended. He stated that $14,005.60 was past due on subscriptions. F. C. Boyles stated that in a few days $5,000 would be due the contractor with only a few hundred in the treasury.

It was decided to turn over to the captains of the twenty companies the cards with which their companies had solicited funds and have their men see the persons from whom the subscriptions had been secured. It was stated that there was no doubt but that the subscribers would pay up promptly when they saw there was actual need of the money; that they had, no doubt, thought there was no immediate need of the money and were therefore a little slow in making payments. It was decided to have the secretary prepare these cards and turn them over to the captains on Saturday, the captains to get their companies together on Monday and the canvass to be done on Tuesday.

Several short and enthusiastic talks were made and Dr. J. P. Turner caused hearty applause when he said that he would collect the subscriptions from every man he had solicited if his captain so ordered.

Democrats Win Sweep- ing Victory in Baltimore

in an interview regarding the Chicago victory said tonight: "It seems to me that things could not move more smoothly for the Democrats than they now are, and have been since our caucus of yesterday, since we have had three great caucuses and all went off well today. Now I hear that Harrison carried Chicago by 20,000. It looks like the Democratic landslide is still on."

Gale Sweeping the Gulf Coast

By Publishers' Press.

Mobile, Ala., April 4.—A gale which has been sweeping the coast this afternoon between Mobile and New Orleans, continues to increase in velocity early tonight. It is feared that damage will be wrought to shipping and to the coast country. Reports from Gulfport, Miss., and Dunbar, La., state that the wind is blowing at the rate of sixty miles an hour.
